

GeoPost announces a consolidated turnover of 3.292 billion euros in 2008

Paris, 18th March 2009 - GeoPost, subsidiary of the French La Poste Group and a major player on the European market for express B to B services, generated a consolidated turnover figure of 3.292 billion euros in 2008, excluding exchange rate and perimeter variations, up by 7.1% compared to 2007.

In 2008, GeoPost reinforced its position in Central and Eastern Europe. In March GeoPost acquired a majority stake in Pegasus, a Rumanian company employing 150 staff members. In April GeoPost took a majority shareholding in DPD Ukraine in order to offer an express delivery service and a domestic and international parcel service. With its Turkish partner Yurtiçi Kargo, GeoPost acquired in Kazakhstan a majority shareholding in GeoPost Caspian- renamed DPD Kazakhstan, a company based in Almaty. In May GeoPost signed an agreement with the Austrian Group Lagermax, a logistics specialist, for the purchase of all their shares in DPD Bosnia, DPD Croatia, DPD Slovenia and DPD Serbia.

As for sustainable development, GeoPost accentuated its commitment to environmental issues by assessing the Carbon Footprint of its European subsidiaries.

In volume terms, 2008 saw GeoPost confirm its position as N°2 in Europe and N°1 on the French market with over 550 million parcels delivered worldwide on behalf of 300,000 customers.
